

SAFETY AND HEALTH ON THE FARM

IT'S YOUR RIGHT
AND IT'S THE LAW

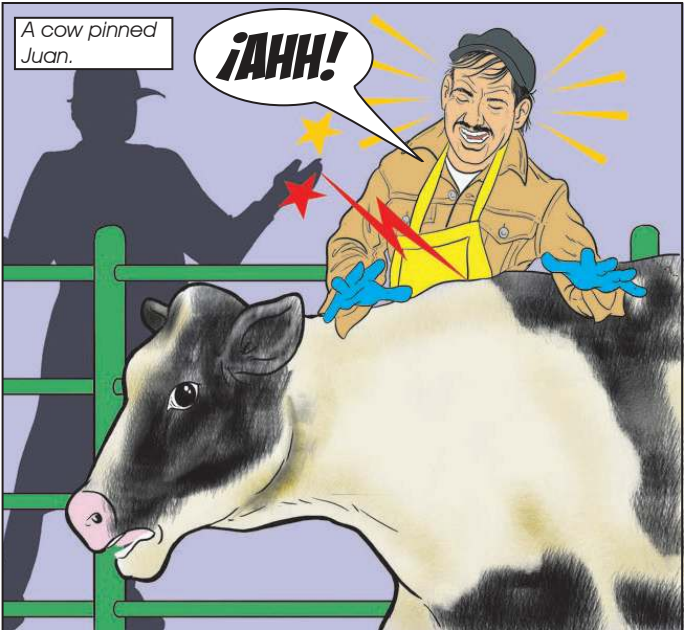

Juan is a milker on a dairy farm. He is from México.

Juan was never trained to work safely with cows.

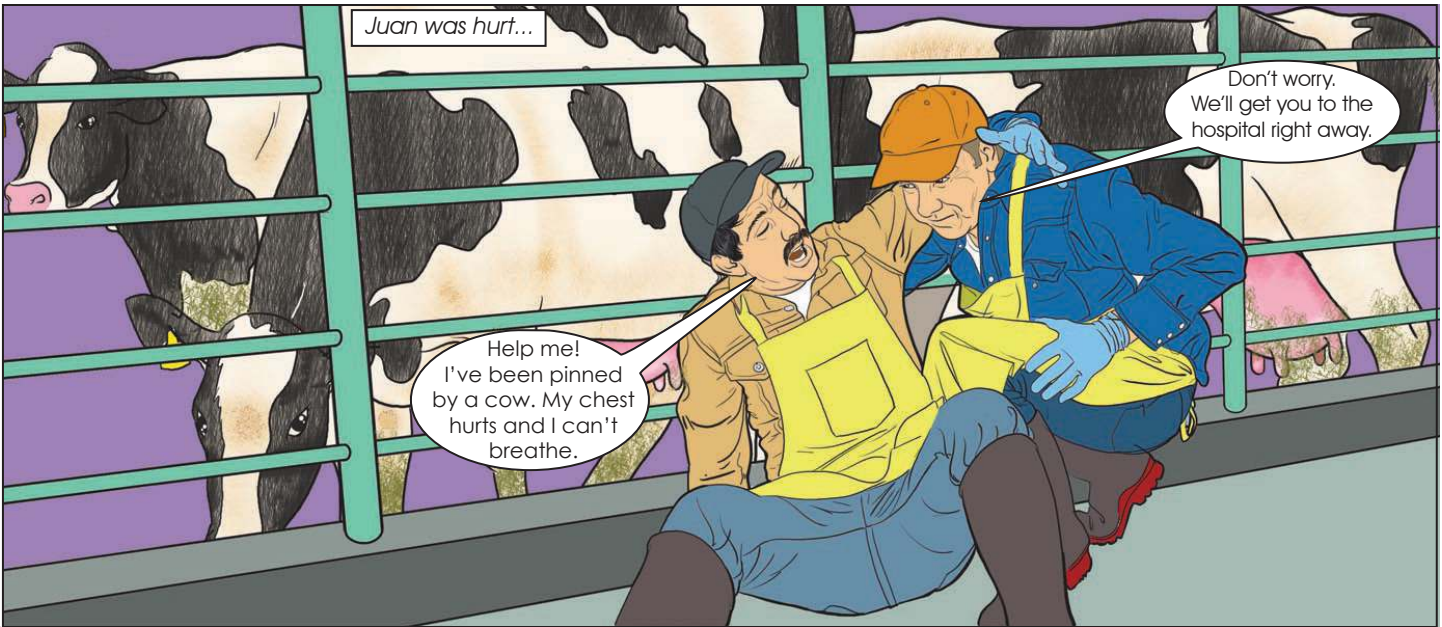

Today, the crowd gate got stuck. Juan jumped into the holding area to open the gate...

A cow pinned Juan.

¡AHH!

Juan was hurt...

Help me! I've been pinned by a cow. My chest hurts and I can't breathe.

Don't worry. We'll get you to the hospital right away.

Even though Juan is in great pain, he is worried about how he is going to pay for his medical bills. He is scared that he will lose his job.

What am I going to do? I don't have the money to pay for the doctor. And if I don't work, I can't send money home to Mexico.

Don't worry. Our farm has workers' compensation insurance for all employees who get hurt on the job.

And what do I have to do?

Right now, it's important that we get you to a doctor. You will need to tell the doctor this happened at work.

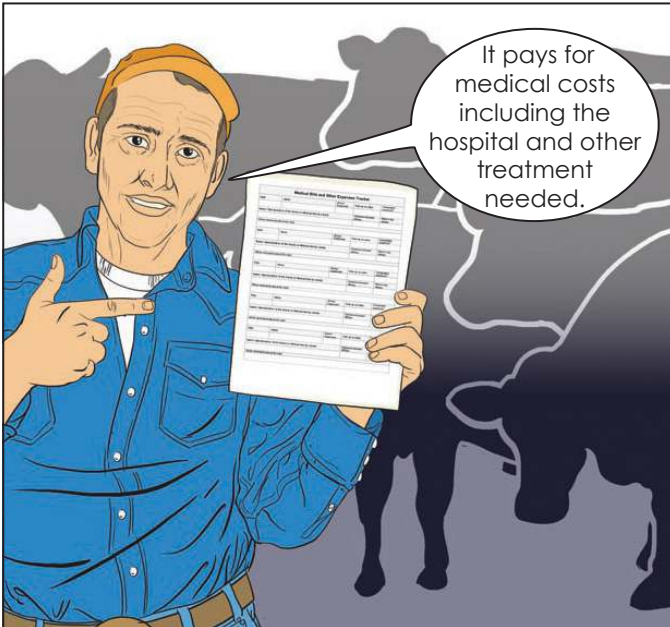

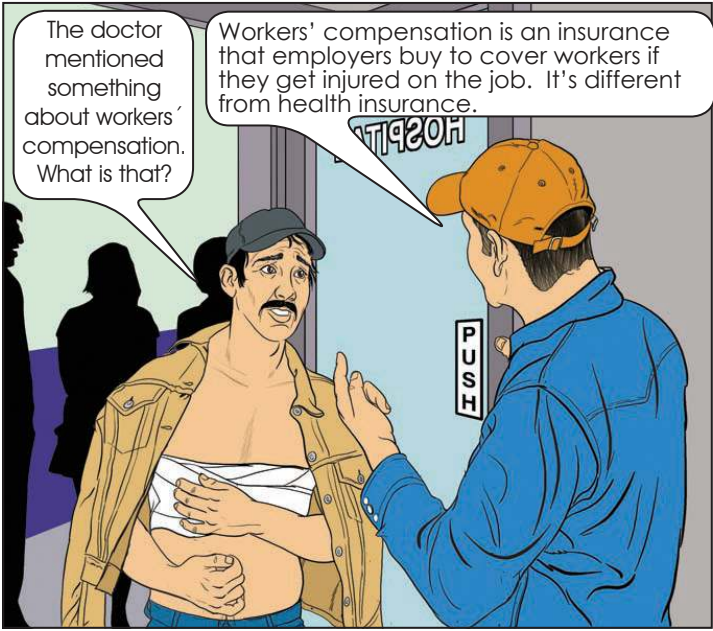

You broke 4 ribs. What happened?

Doctor this happened at work. I got pinned by a cow.

EMERGENCY

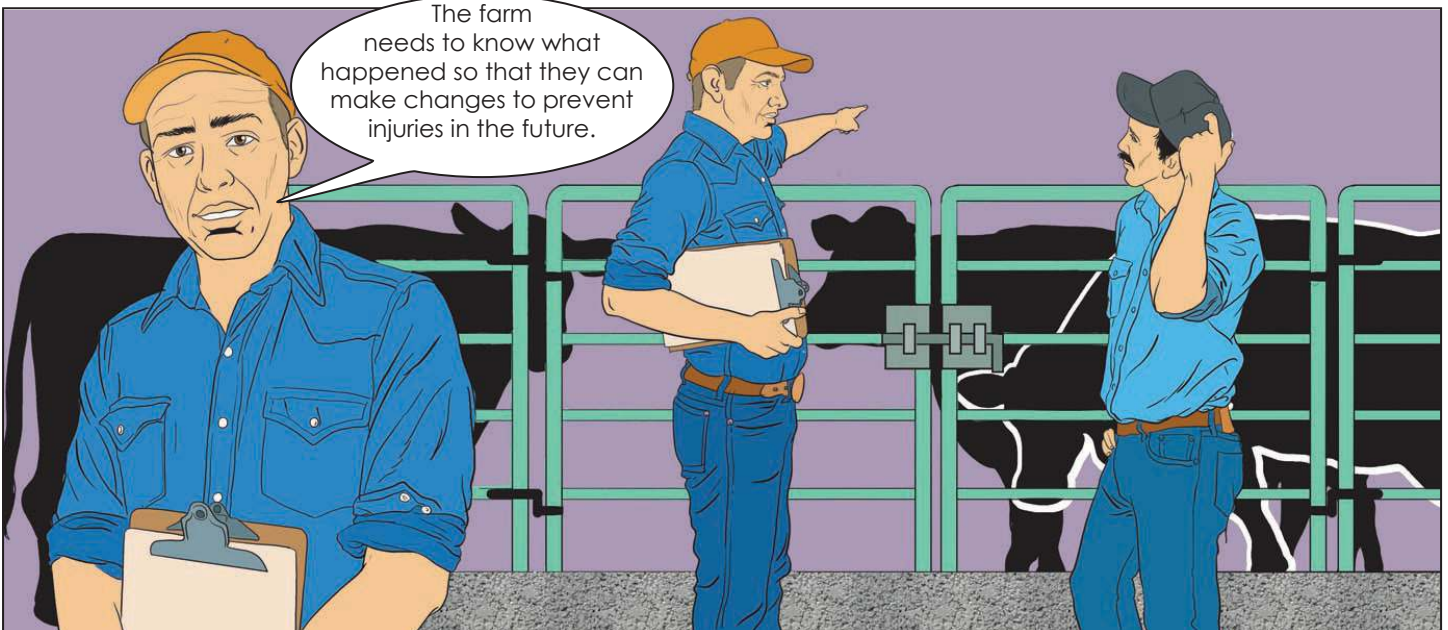

Working on farms can be dangerous. We've arranged for you to see another doctor tomorrow.

Talk to that doctor about getting you back to work as soon as you can. It's good for you and it's good for the farm.

Whenever a worker gets hurt or becomes sick because of work, the worker should report it to their supervisor.

The farm needs to know what happened so that they can make changes to prevent injuries in the future.

OSHA is the government agency that ensures people have a safe and healthy place to work. In English it is called the "Occupational Safety and Health Administration or OSHA".

Farmers and workers need to follow OSHA rules when it comes to worker safety and health.

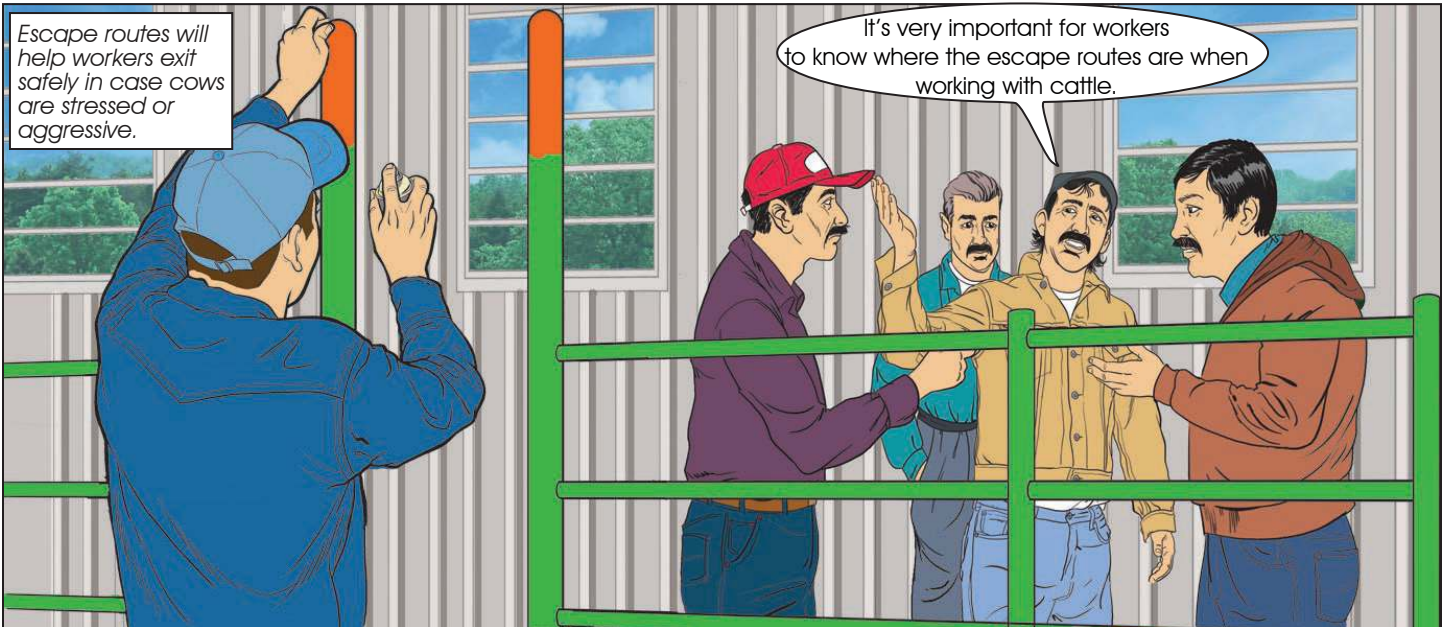

Workers have certain rights like the right to know about the hazards in their workplace and how to keep safe.

How to stay safe when working with animals is the topic of today's training.

Communication is very important on the farm, among workers and between workers and the farmer.

I want to tell you what I learned from getting pinned by that cow. We need to be aware of cow behavior and look for signs of stress or aggression.

Escape routes will help workers exit safely in case cows are stressed or aggressive.

It's very important for workers to know where the escape routes are when working with cattle.

Another right that workers have is to receive information about the chemicals used at work.

Two weeks later...

Workers' Rights

All workers have these rights:

- ❑ Right to a safe and healthy workplace.
- ❑ Right to know about chemical hazards and how to avoid injury.
- ❑ Right to health and safety training about hazards at your workplace.
- ❑ Right to information about workplace hazards.
- ❑ Right to demand a safe workplace without fear of discrimination or punishment.
- ❑ Right to file an OSHA complaint and to request an OSHA inspection of your workplace.

- For more booklets, call (612) 625-4578 or visit <http://www.migrantclinician.org/dairyworkercomic>
- For more information about workers' compensation in your state visit www.migrantclinician.org/workerscomp
- Story: Amy Liebman, Patricia Juárez-Carrillo, Salvador Sáenz and Francisco Guerrero
- Illustrations and Design: Salvador Sáenz Art Assistant: Uriel E. Sáenz

Upper Midwest Agricultural Safety and Health Center (UMASH)
University of Minnesota ■ Hablan Español
DEI Code 8807 ■ 420 Delaware St. SE ■ Minneapolis, MN 55455 ■ 612-625-8836

Minnesota Occupational Safety and Health Administration
1-877-470-6742

Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA)
1-800-321-6742 ■ Hablan Español

Consulado de México en Saint Paul
797 7th Street E ■ St Paul, MN 55106 ■ (651) 771-5494