

2022 Farm Safety Beliefs

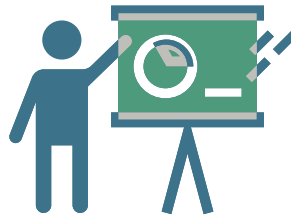

At the 2022 National FFA Convention, UMASH surveyed 910 students & 66 adults
from across the United States about their beliefs about farm safety.

Many believed they would be less likely to be injured on the farm if they...

4 in 5

students believed
no matter what they do, farm injuries will still happen.

Students with previous safety training were more likely to strongly agree that there were actions they could take to make injuries less likely.

Students were...

13%

more likely than adults to believe that enough practice could make injuries less likely.

While most agreed that there were actions they could take to prevent injuries, 80% still thought that injuries on the farm would happen no matter what.

Injuries on the farm are preventable.

For free educator resources to teach the next generation of agriculture:

<http://umash.umn.edu/AgEd>

National Children's Center for Rural and Agricultural Health and Safety

UMASH is funded by the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH), cooperative agreement U54OH010170.

GET CONNECTED

@umashcenter

umash.umn.edu